REPORT

"MELBOURNE MECHANICS' INSTITUTION AND SCHOOL OF ARTS," FOR THE YEAR 1850.

THE period having now arrived when it becomes the duty of your Committee to render an account of their proceedings during the past year, they beg to lay before the members this, the Eleventh Annual Report of the Melbourne Mechanics' Institution and School of Arts, which they are gratified to find exhibits such very satisfactory evidence of the rapid progress the Institution is making in public estimation, and of its increasing usefulness, as to fully warrant them in congratulating the members on the very encouraging prospects which are opening up to them.

Your Committee's Report of last year shewed the total number of the members of the Institution as then amounting to 384; since that period the members have increased to 451, being an addition during the year of 67. And it gives your Committee much satisfaction to observe that a large number of the members recently admitted are respectable tradesmen and mechanics, the class of persons for whose benefit such institutions were specially intended, but who have not heretofore exhibited so warm an interest in the prosperity of this Institution as was wished and expected.

The Committee have much pleasure in informing the members that the Financial position of the Institution may now be considered as satisfactory.

The revenue of the past year has exceeded the estimated amount by £47 1s. 4d., and a sum of £200 has been paid towards the liquidation of the mortgage which is now reduced to £600, and is the only debt due by the Institution.

Your Committee have no cause to anticipate any falling off in the income of this year. On the contrary they have every reason to hope that a progressive accession will take place in the number of members, by which the revenue will be increased.

The Committee in recommending to the members the appropriation of the revenue for the ensuing year will therefore presume that the sum to be realised will amount to £650. It being understood that in the event of the current expenses not amounting to the sum stated, or the revenue exceeding the sum estimated, the Committee will appropriate such surplus to the general advancement of the Institution. And they propose that it be expended as follows, viz. :—

|  |     |     |     |          |    |   |
|--|-----|-----|-----|----------|----|---|
| Current expenses and interest on mortgage    | ... | ... | ... | 300      | 0  | 0 |
| Books, periodicals, &c.                      | ... | ... | ... | 150      | 0  | 0 |
| Liquidation of mortgage...                   | ... | ... | ... | 100      | 0  | 0 |
| Accounts due                                 | ... | ... | ... | 69       | 8  | 6 |
| Lectures, apparatus, and incidental expenses | ... | ... | ... | 30       | 11 | 6 |
|  |     |     |     | £650 0 0 |    |   |

In proposing the appropriation of the revenue as shewn, the Committee have increased the sum to be applied to the purchase of Books and Periodicals to £150 (the amount voted last year being £125), conceiving it most desirable to extend and improve the efficiency of this branch of the Institution by every means in their power; and they have also proposed that the sum of £100 should be appropriated to the liquidation of the Mortgage, as recommended by them in their Report of January 1849.

Having now exhibited the financial position and prospects of the Institution, your Committee will briefly advert to the progress which has been made in securing the efficiency of the various departments of the Institution.

The Library has received during the year an accession of 348 volumes by purchase and 34 by donation, making the total number of volumes now contained in the Library, and open to the perusal of the members, 4055, and a very large proportion are in almost constant circulation.

Though a somewhat heterogeneous collection, owing partly to its being principally made up of donations, and partly to the difficulty of procuring suitable works in the colony, your Committee are happy to be enabled to report that the Library contains a large and rapidly increasing collection of valuable and standard works, well suited to the requirements of such an Institution. Your Committee have been unremitting in their exertions for the extension and improvement of the Library, and their purchases of new works during the year have gone to the utmost limits the funds of the Institution would admit of.

The Reading Room is now abundantly and regularly supplied with British and Colonial Newspapers and Periodicals; and it is gratifying to observe, from the large number of members and visitors daily frequenting the Reading Room, that the efforts of your Committee to render this department of the Institution both useful and attractive, are not unacknowledged or unappreciated.

Your Committee regret that it is not in their power to report any improvement in the position of the Museum. The importance of this highly interesting and instructive branch of the operations of the Institution is neither unrecognised nor disregarded, but while the building continues to be occupied as a Lecture Hall and for other purposes, it is impossible that the Museum can be extended, and your Committee therefore do not feel themselves warranted in proposing the incurring the additional expenditure which would be required to place this department of the Institution in the requisite state of efficiency.

Your Committee have great pleasure in stating that they have not, during the past year, experienced the same difficulty as heretofore in procuring the delivery of Lectures, as during the last session they were fortunate enough to obtain lectures on the different subjects enumerated in the appendix, which were generally well attended and well received. Your Committee feel that the members of the Institution owe a deep debt of gratitude to the different gentlemen who have so kindly given their services as lecturers.

It will now devolve upon the meeting to proceed, in conformity with the rules of the Institution, with the election of the office bearers for the ensuing year, and to supply the vacancies in the Committee of Management, occasioned by the retirement by rotation of the following gentlemen, viz. :—Messrs. Barwick, Craig, Edwards, King, Paterson, Wharton, and Rev. A. Morison, all of whom are eligible for re-election.
